Oak Street Funding, top insurance lender, rolls out new loan program that lowers agents' interest rates

"OSF Rate Rewards" drops rates ¼ percent annually with no minimum loan amount, expires June 30

Indianapolis, Apr. 22 – The nation's top insurance lender, Oak Street Funding (www.oakstreetfunding.com), is sweetening the deal for agents and brokers who take out a loan by June 30 by automatically reducing interest rates ¼ percent each year for the life of the loan. With "OSF Rate Rewards," qualifying agents could see interest rates drop up to 3% over the repayment period. There is no minimum loan amount.

"We're rewarding agents who live up to their word and continue to perform," said Rick Dennen, CEO of the Indianapolis-based Oak Street Funding. "It's just that simple." He added that the OSF Rate Rewards program is "an outstanding opportunity for agents to offset anticipated hikes in the prime rate and have more cash on hand." Agents looking to bring in more accounts or acquire another agency should "strongly consider securing capital—as an investment in their future," according to Dennen.

Oak Street, which pioneered commission-based lending, offers financing exclusively for insurance professionals. Since its inception, the company has been committed to helping agents and brokers grow their businesses responsibly by providing over $190 million in capital to more than 1,200 agencies nationwide.
